

Lumicharge II at Techfluence

By George Harding

October 1, 2020

Tucson Computer Society

Here's a desk lamp that has it all!

A lamp that hovers over your work to show it all and a phone charger that works while you do.

The lamp's arm is adjustable, up, down, and side to side.

The bulb's brightness is adjustable: there are three different hues and ten brightness levels.

The charger has wireless Qi capability and also has one USB port to charge phones that cannot be charged wirelessly.

This lamp includes a motion sensor nightlight, so you don't have to fumble to find the on-off switch for the lamp.

The lamp also has a calendar display and multiple alarm options.

Its price is $99.

See

<https://thelumicharge.com/collections/smart-lamps/products/lumicharge-ii-prelaunch> for details.